Creamed Comments on S.S. Lesson

Paul and His Friends Philemon 1:8-21 for Sunday, December 16
Paul turns from deep serious theological reasoning now and talks with his friends. He expects friends to help one another in the Christian life. Friendship is one of the gospel's rarest fruits. In apostolic Christianity, every church was preeminently an association of friends; a brotherhood in which brother meant friend. This letter to Philemon is the gem among Paul's epistles.
V. 8—"Wherefore, I enjoin thee that which is befitting." Philemon must do that which fits Philemon. Paul can't.
V. 9—"Yet for love's sake, I rather beseech, being such a one as Paul the aged, and now a prisoner of Jesus Christ." By nature Paul was no beseecher, but by love he was. Paul was in a position to command the master of Onesimus; but he would not, he would rather Philemon choose willingly the course that opened before him as a Christian.
V. 10—"I beseech thee for my child, my very heart." Onesimus, the run-away slave of Philemon, had been converted through Paul.

The Church Invites You

Some Time You May Invite The Church.
Critics of the church when in deepest despair call for the ministrations of the church; let them be sick to death and they forget their denunciation and invite the support and faith of the church; let them lose one that is dearer to them than their own lives and the church is invited to bring solace, comfort and strength; let them reel and stagger with perplexity and misfortune, danger and grief, and the church is invited to provide a refuge.
The ministrations of the church are for all regardless of who it is that calls out there is a note of consistency of the one who wants the church has accepted the extended invitation and has been identified with it. Why not accept the invitation and Come to Church Next Sunday?

Discussion on Questions S.S. Lesson

Paul and His Friends—Philemon 1:8-21 for Sunday, Dec. 16, 1929.
1. What is friendship?
2. What must we think about a man who does not care for friends?
3. Why are our friendships likely to make or break us?
4. How much success would Paul have had as a preacher without friends?
5. On what principles should friends be chosen?
6. How can a friendship, once established, be raised to a higher plane?
7. What are some of the obligations of friendship?
8. What are some of the dangers that beset friendship? What are some safe guards against severing our friendships?
9. What points in true friendship does Paul illustrate in this lesson?
Cicero says, "An investment that is never misplaced, no matter where it is put, and that never misses a dividend, is Christian friendship."
"Life is to be fortified by many friendships."—Sydney Smith.

BOOK REVIEW

THE MASTER: A Life of Jesus Christ by Walter Russell Bowie. Scribners, New York City, emphasizes the human side of Christ's life transfiguring the every day commonplace and presenting the challenges and significance of our lives in their relationship to God.
TESTED METHODS FOR TEACHERS OF JUNIORS by Mabel Crews Ringland, $1.25. F. H. Revell Co., New York City, discusses the various aspects of problems arising from work with Juniors and touches upon some 30 different subjects of general interest such as "The Boy Who Makes Trouble in the Class" and "Mid-Week Activities."

THE BETTER WAY

Religion and Progress
Religion should help us avail ourselves of our almost unlimited opportunity for growth and development, to budget our time so that each year we show advancement. Religion, dealing with values shows which goods are eternal and which are only temporal. Science deals with facts, religion with values. Science discovers how they should be used to exterminate humans in the throes of convulsions or to rid the farmer of the pests that attack his crops, so that there may be more food for mankind.

1. WHAT ARE THE TEACHING METHODS OF JESUS THAT OUGHT TO BE PRACTICED BY A SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER OR ANY TEACHER OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION?
This question was discussed recently at the Jerusalem meeting of the International Missionary Council and the findings on this question were summed up in the following statements.
Jesus is concerned with the development of personality, and with instruction only, as this serves the larger end. There is little of catechetical or dogmatic teaching and scarcely more of direct information. He enlightened the minds of his hearers rather by enlarging their outlook than by formal lessons, and his lessons are always such as to arouse interest in insight rather than to tolerate inquiry.
He never compels or forces upon his hearers what they have not ears to hear. With an infinite regard for them, he offers an infinite wealth of educational resources, leaving them free to assimilate or reject. They are not to be satisfied with knowledge taken at second hand; but must respond for themselves to what he is richest revealing.
His teaching gives followers the community of his own life. They share with him and together a way of life in which not only by his lessons but by the intimate contacts of close instruction and common pursuits their individualities are expanded. Education finds its goal not in a lowly perfection, but in the organic and organized society of human life.
"A bad parent is one who never lets a child grow up, who does all the thinking for him, the 'mother knows best' type of parent."
"A parent betrays a child who builds up in him a feeling of inferiority. He has crippled the child for life."
"Many a parent, in demanding rigid obedience, succeeds only in rousing rebellion."
"A parent betrays his child if he fails to distinguish between major and minor values. In a home where 'manners' rank higher than moral values, it is hard to expect any development in genuine Christian character."

Ways of Being Bad Parents
Miriam Van Waters of the Los Angeles Juvenile court cites distinct yawning pitfalls to the average amateur parent. She says: "Half time parents are bad ones; parents who act as such only sporadically and then frequently at the wrong time."
"A bad parent is one who never lets a child grow up, who does all the thinking for him, the 'mother knows best' type of parent."

County Basketeers Rampage Friday Night

CIRCLEVILLE TEAMS GAIN EVEN BREAK

Boys' Quintet Loses and Girls' Team Wins First Games.

Pickaway-co basketball fans had plenty of excitement on tap for them Friday evening as about every township and town in the county had a basketball game either at home or away.

The scores of Friday's games are as follows:

BOYS' GAMES
Circleville 13, Williamsport 15.
Scioto-twp 12, Darby-twp 6.
Monroe-twp 66, Derby 21.
Atlanta 20, Saltcreek-twp 13.
New Holland 21, Walnut-twp 13.
Ashville 40, Jackson-twp 10.

GIRLS' GAMES
Circleville 54, Williamsport 6.
Ashville 11, Jackson 15.
Walnut-twp 35, New Holland 13.
Atlanta 16, Saltcreek 9.
Scioto-twp 8, Derby 13.
Monroe-twp 27, Derby 2.
Pickaway-twp moved down to 25-20 to play Centralia but the game had to be postponed due to a failure of the lighting plant at the Centralia school.

TIGERS WALLOPED
The Circleville high school Tigers went down to defeat in their first game of the season at the hands of the little camp of Williamsport. Coach Guthrie would make no predictions on his quintet before the game as the boys' team was so badly out of sync that he was sure they would be defeated entirely upon speed. Williamsport possesses some neat passing and have a dead eye for basketball. Hector and Wilson are the outstanding players for the Tigers. Davis, a veteran of last season, was evidently known to the Williamsport group and he covered with a good guard, Nelson.

The first half of the game ended with Williamsport having a 10-0 lead. The Tigers tried to stage a comeback but the Williamsport boys held them for a lead at the end of the first half.

The lineups are as follows: Circleville—Hector, f.; Davis, f.; Russell, f.; Wilson, g.; Nelson, g.; Williamsport—Anderson, f.; Tomlinson, f.; Redman, c.; Hurley, g.; Bowers, g.

GIRLS SHOW WAY
Miss Rain's crew just naturally took to the floor with the Williamsport girls as they ended the half with a score of 24 to 4, and all of the girls on the C.H.S. squad had chances at the basket.

On all indications, Miss Rain's produced another team equal to last year's when her flock lost two games out of twelve.

The lineup for the girls' game was: Circleville—Jones and Carter, forwards; Crist, center; running center; Peters and Barnes, guards and Given, substitute.

Williamsport—Ater and Luellen, forwards; Carter, center; Young, running center; Wardell and Tomlinson, guards.

WIN AND LOSE
New Holland moved over to Walnut-twp, and the Walnut boys the victims of a mean defeat of 21 to 13 while the Walnut team turned the tables and won a victory of 35 to 13.

Walnut's lineup follows: Girls'—Nothstine and Rader, forwards; Aldenderfer, running center; Allen, center; forwards; Laugh, Brown and Scotchorn, guards; Nothstine, f.; Miller, c.; Riegel, g.

Atlanta crew is holding their own so far this season having defeated Ashville last week, in the boys' game while the girls met with a defeat.

The Ashville boys were very successful this week having bounced on Jackson-twp by a score of 44 to 21, but the girls were not so lucky as they went down to a defeat of 11 to 15.

Bower and McGlone, the center and forward on the Ashville boys' team were the stars of the game.

HIGH SCORERS
Price and Dean were the high score men on the Jackson team. Price making eight points and Dean seven. Row for Jackson made four points and Radcliffe two points.

Bowers was the high man for Ashville, making 15 points. Carter and McGlone each made 13. Ward two and Cromley one.

On the girls' squad M. Finley of Jackson made seven points for her team while Brown of Ashville made 11.

Both of the Monroe-twp teams were victorious over the Derby squads but the Derby teams have good excuses. A number of the students at the Derby school are ill with the flu.

Former Student At School Sends In His Selections For Honor Squads.

Since this is the season for all-star football teams to be picked a C. H. S. letterman sent to The Herald a first, second and third all-star C. H. S. high school football team based upon the playing done by the men while they attended C. H. S. and Everts.

Here they are:
First team—Ends, W. Jones and L. Huffman; tackles, M. Pontius and R. Palm; guards, H. McMahon and B. Porter; center, George Conyers; halfbacks, G. Miller and C. Palm; fullback, E. Moore; quarter, D. Courtwright.

Second team—Ends, T. Sawyer and E. Coffland; tackles, H. Slagney and H. Davis; guards, J. Rooney and G. Vrederbome; center, R. Valentine; halfbacks, F. Weffer and R. Allen; fullback, J. Dogger; quarter, T. Penick.

Third team—Ends, L. Heiskell and W. Hise; tackles, L. Curry and M. Stedman; guards, T. Weldon and J. McCrady; center, K. Haswell; halfbacks, R. Peters and P. McLaughlin; fullback, D. Bell; quarter, E. Warner.

Miss Ann Bennett of Burnsideham School for Girls is spending the Christmas vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Bennett.

CLOUDS FLY TO THIRD VICTORY

The Flying Clouds, Circleville, coached by "Gus" Dumm, a former high school star, flew to their third consecutive victory Thursday evening by defeating the Commercial Five, also of Circleville, by a score of 31 to 10.

Weffer at forward and Maloney at guard starred for the Clouds, while Lape and Carothers put up the best scrap for the Commercial Five. The game was played as an eye-opener to the game of the St. Paul Evangelical church against the C. A. C.

Action Will Be Seen and Good Cause Served at Memorial Hall Party.

On the Red Cross benefit boxing card to be presented by the Rain-bow club Wednesday, Dec. 19, there will be some real action offered by fast local boys and Chillicothe talent.

Nate Riggs, of Chillicothe, will oppose Al. Vanfossen, Circleville lad at 128 lbs. At 175 lbs. Young Holcomb of Chillicothe will meet Kid Hartley who recently moved to the Circle city from W. Virginia. In another six rounder Eddie Wagner will meet Kid Dayton, at 122 pounds for the third time.

These boys have fought two sensational battles in this town and have brought the crowd to their feet both times.

The first was a draw and Dayton won the second.

In another feature bout Ralph McQuade will oppose Beau McDonald, the only boy to defeat Kid Moats or ever stay the limit with him. McDonald is substituting for Wayne Anderson who was injured in a wreck recently.

Two other six rounders will bring together Jimmy Pinnix and Johnny Grover of East Ringgold.

The big bout of all will be the battle between Gaby Rader and Mickey O'Reilly for the featherweight title of the city.

A six rounder is being held in readiness in case any of the other boxers fail to show up as is often the case. This will be K. O. Hill against Sailor Fanken.

The club is determined this time to give fight fans all they want, and have made preparations for a large crowd.

SPORTSMATTER
By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Sports Writer)

The world's record of 9 6-10 seconds for the 100-yard dash has stood for 22 years, but the outdoor season of 1929 may see a tenth of a second clipped off the mark if Percy Williams, the Olympic 100 and 200 meter champion, and Frank Wykoff, Glendale, Calif., schoolboy sensation, get together on a lightning fast track.

D. J. Kelly of the United States was the first sprinter to run the century in 9 6-10 seconds, accomplishing the feat on June 23, 1906. The mark has been equalled seven times, five times by Charley Paddock and once each by H. P. Drew and Cyril Coafee, the Canadian.

Paddock was clocked in 9 5-10 at Los Angeles May 15, 1926, but the International Amateur Athletic Federation rejected the application for a world's record.

Wykoff and Williams are two of the fastest sprinters ever developed. Both are young and either of them may crack 9 6-10 seconds in the century before they hang up their spiked shoes.

That Amsterdam Race
Williams beat Wykoff in the 100 metres at Amsterdam, but many track followers believe the decision will be reversed the next time they step on a cinder path and await the "bark" of the starter's gun.

Wykoff finished fourth in the 100 meters at Amsterdam, and Williams won the race in 10 4-5 seconds, slower time than the California boy made in winning the final in the Olympic tryouts at Cambridge.

On the Red Cross benefit boxing card to be presented by the Rain-bow club Wednesday, Dec. 19, there will be some real action offered by fast local boys and Chillicothe talent.

Nate Riggs, of Chillicothe, will oppose Al. Vanfossen, Circleville lad at 128 lbs. At 175 lbs. Young Holcomb of Chillicothe will meet Kid Hartley who recently moved to the Circle city from W. Virginia. In another six rounder Eddie Wagner will meet Kid Dayton, at 122 pounds for the third time.

These boys have fought two sensational battles in this town and have brought the crowd to their feet both times.

The first was a draw and Dayton won the second.

In another feature bout Ralph McQuade will oppose Beau McDonald, the only boy to defeat Kid Moats or ever stay the limit with him. McDonald is substituting for Wayne Anderson who was injured in a wreck recently.

Two other six rounders will bring together Jimmy Pinnix and Johnny Grover of East Ringgold.

The big bout of all will be the battle between Gaby Rader and Mickey O'Reilly for the featherweight title of the city.

A six rounder is being held in readiness in case any of the other boxers fail to show up as is often the case. This will be K. O. Hill against Sailor Fanken.

The club is determined this time to give fight fans all they want, and have made preparations for a large crowd.

The world's record of 9 6-10 seconds for the 100-yard dash has stood for 22 years, but the outdoor season of 1929 may see a tenth of a second clipped off the mark if Percy Williams, the Olympic 100 and 200 meter champion, and Frank Wykoff, Glendale, Calif., schoolboy sensation, get together on a lightning fast track.

D. J. Kelly of the United States was the first sprinter to run the century in 9 6-10 seconds, accomplishing the feat on June 23, 1906. The mark has been equalled seven times, five times by Charley Paddock and once each by H. P. Drew and Cyril Coafee, the Canadian.

Paddock was clocked in 9 5-10 at Los Angeles May 15, 1926, but the International Amateur Athletic Federation rejected the application for a world's record.

Wykoff and Williams are two of the fastest sprinters ever developed. Both are young and either of them may crack 9 6-10 seconds in the century before they hang up their spiked shoes.

Williams beat Wykoff in the 100 metres at Amsterdam, but many track followers believe the decision will be reversed the next time they step on a cinder path and await the "bark" of the starter's gun.

Wykoff finished fourth in the 100 meters at Amsterdam, and Williams won the race in 10 4-5 seconds, slower time than the California boy made in winning the final in the Olympic tryouts at Cambridge.

CHRISTMAS CARDS $55,000.
The Christmas card has grown greatly in popularity in recent years. Nearly all of us send them, get them, or both. Yet we don't think of the making of them as a big industry.

It is, however. A writer in the current North American Review reveals that the American public pays $55,000.00 a year for its Christmas cards. There are forty factories engaged in the trade, employing some 5,000 workers. Designs are guarded as jealously as possible.

Oh yes—there is one more point to it. The practice of sending Christmas cards instead of gifts, this magazine writer has found originated in Scotland.

A WOMAN'S TASK

Mrs. Nellie A. Mellon, 71-year-old Michigan farm woman, astonished her neighbors at a corn husking recently by pitching in and husking 410 crates of corn. If you have ever had a fling at that extremely hard job you will realize what endurance and physical stamina that called for.

That little news item reminds us forcefully of the difference between the present day and the day of our fathers. It was not so many years ago that a farm woman, even in her age had to be able to take hard jobs like that as a matter of course. The early settlers took back-breaking work as a regular feature of existence. They never experienced anything else.

Now, when a 71-year-old woman husks 410 crates of corn, it becomes an interesting new story. A few decades ago it was commonplace.

COMMUNIST PROPAGANDA

Some people are a good deal alarmed about manifestations of Communist propaganda in the United States. They note that the Communists are organized politically in most of the states, that there are Communist schools in various cities, and the Communists are active in spreading their gospel among members of labor unions, in the army and navy, etc.

Considering how Russia has lagged behind the rest of the world since the war, as the result of Communist domination, it is indeed a terrible misfortune when these philosophies get any hold in a country. But the fact that the Communist parties get only a very insignificant vote at our elections, shows that this cause is making no progress. It is not probably as strong in this country as it was 25 years ago.

The results of the Russian experiment have disgusted a great many people. A lot of these folks were once attracted to these principles. They thought there is something fine in having property divided up equally, with extremes of riches and poverty abolished. But they learned from Russia, that Communism not merely makes the rich poor, but it makes the poor poorer.

The average workman does not get excited when he is told that some man's fortune which amounts to $100,000,000 should be divided up among the common people. He can see that by letting some brainy man make a lot of money by organizing business better, the business that employs him is likely to give him more regular work at better wages.

Communism will never get any hold in this country, so long as the business management of these times makes an effort to provide comfort for the average run of people.

And it also must be remembered that practically every millionaire in the country today, started at the bottom of the ladder. As long as that ladder is kept open, with room at the top for folks now at the bottom there will be no Communism in the United States.

Peaks of Desire

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR

JERRY DUNN, star reporter on a large newspaper, meets Ann Tremaine, daughter of a wealthy banker. He convinces her of the emptiness of the life she is leading, and takes her to live at his boarding house. There she is projected into a new world of people. She is immediately attracted to Steve Harrison, a husky young mechanic who aspires to the prize ring, and of whom Jerry is jealous. Ann gets a job as ticket seller in a local theatre owned by Nick Pagalos, and walks home with Steve Harrison. They are waylaid by Mazie Thompson, who accuses Steve of having trifled with her. Jerry confesses he is in love with Ann, and begs her to run away with him. She tells him she does not love him and rejects his offer. The next day she gets a job for Harrison in Pagalos' service.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

JERRY was sent out of town by his newspaper on an assignment to a neighboring city. Ann did not even see him before he left, but he sent her a note explaining his absence. "And watch your step while I'm gone," he wrote playfully in conclusion. His absence, temporary though it was, seemed to break the last link that connected her with her old life. Now, at last, she stood completely alone.

Steve stayed away from his job at the garage and walked with her down to the theatre, where she introduced him to Nick Pagalos. As the men stood side by side, Ann was struck with the physical contrast they presented. Steve towered over the shrewd, allow fellow; he was four inches taller and fifty pounds heavier. One was light, the other dark! Steve's body, when she was close to him, had a faint fresh odor of soap, whereas Pagalos seemed scented with cigarettes and an evasive perfume. The mental contrast was startling. Steve's mind seemed honest and slow against the seemingly mechanical thinking of Pagalos. Out of deference to Ann her employer treated Steve with a dash of courtesy. "Come into my private office, Mr. Harrison, and we'll talk this over," he said.

Ann wished she might have gone with him to prompt Steve and offer whatever help she could in his behalf. She knew instinctively that Pagalos would not be impressed by Steve—and she wanted desperately for the young chap to have his chance. Her worry was needless because Pagalos immediately decided to hire Steve.

Before noon Steve was out making the rounds of the neighborhood in search of advertisements for the theatre program.

"The fellow is dumb, but he's willing," Nick told her, standing in the box office and helping her arrange the tickets for the night's performance in the rack beside the window. He's just a handy man around here and I'll give him a chance for your sake."

But Ann had no idea of letting Steve's employment stand on that basis. "I don't want you to do anything for me," she stated firmly. "He'll probably earn every-

It was hopeless to try to change his viewpoint. The poor fellow thought an automobile ride and a hotel dinner would mean luxury to her. She had been brought up in an atmosphere where money was counted by millions and Nick Pagalos was trying to impress her as though she had come from a tenement.

"I'll tell you," she said seeking the easiest way out. "You just forget all that and never mention it again. Maybe I'll change my mind some day. If I do I'll let you know. Just cut it out and forget it."

His eyes clouded with a smoky darkness. "Sure I'll forget all about it," he said with a changing tone. We'll think about something else."

Apparently he was as good as his word. No matter how much Nick Pagalos might be interested in any woman his nature was such that his business would forever be uppermost in his mind. Even as he had talked to Ann he had been scribbling figures with a pencil on a pad of paper. Obscurely she admired him—any man who could work eighteen hours a day, as Pagalos frequently did, commanded a certain degree of respect.

Of late he had been giving her manuscripts of plays to read and consulted her about which ones were suitable for production by his stock company. She had been surprised by his unerring dramatic instinct. Some day he was going to be highly successful.

Jerry Dunn did not come home at the end of three days; she had a letter from him saying he might be detained a week longer as he was making an investigation of a political scandal for his newspaper and was busy running down clues.

Meanwhile, she was seeing Steve Harrison more than ever. It was easy. If you make a bit with me it ain't because you're just one more girl. It's because I think you're great. Know what I mean?"

"Are you making love to me or what?" Ann asked disinterestedly.

"Suppose I did happen to be making a little love, eh?"

"If that case you'd have to hang out the sign to get a new girl to work around your box office, Mr. Pagalos. I'm not the romantic kind."

"You don't like me, not at all, eh?"

"Sure I like you. Why not? But let's not get too friendly. I like this job and I don't want to lose it because you might get foolish ideas."

"I think you make mistake," he said.

And so I stopped my car. And was enjoying watching a cop bawl out a man who was making a speech. "You can't talk that stuff here," the cop said. "Beat it, you," he said. "Or I'll run you in." And I was enjoying it fine. But the cop happened to see me, and he said, "You can't park there. Get out! That space is reserved for county officials cars."

Statisticians, who always know, say that while it costs on an average of $6,167 to bring the modern American girl to the age of 18, the same job can be done of the average American boy for only $6,107. But the average American girl of 18 is at least $60 better looking than her brother.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

Christmas spirit has once again descended upon the world. As usual it has shown itself in the school sooner than anywhere else.
Many days—yes even weeks—ago, we heard the pupils discussing that memorial day, which marks the height of Christmas spirit. Counting the days, and expressing wishes for gifts are common occurrences around the building.

We have been wondering, ever since this thing made its appearance, if the students are not thinking more about vacation, and the good times they will have, than about the real meaning of this unexplainable thing. Of course, the Christmas holidays are to be spent happily, but we must remember that they also have a deeper meaning.

Christmas spirit is that inner voice that continually brings joy to the heart. It cannot be explained in mere words, yet we are aware that it is there, that it is never stilled until after it has burst forth on Christmas morning with a glad ring of joy, peace, and happiness to all the world.

DECEMBER

December, which brings with it the short days and long nights, is generally considered to be the "dark month." However, let us believe that the "dark month" means only that there is more darkness than light during its thirty-one days, for does not its twenty-fifth day bring the day of days, namely, Christmas?

December also introduces the winter season with its blankets of snow on the ground, trees and shrubs, which within itself presents an ideal setting for a beautiful picture. It brings with it the healthiest sports such as coasting, sled riding, snow-balling, and ice skating, but can all its beauty and sports bring more cheer than the Christmas Day, and the Christmas Spirit?

One and all should enjoy and appreciate the month of December, and should not let the twenty-fifth day pass by without a pause to reflect its full meaning.

BOARD MEETING

At the meeting of the Board of Education, Friday evening, it was decided that the Christmas vacation should begin Friday evening, December 21. Studies will be suspended Wednesday morning, January 2.

C. H. S. DONATIONS

Circleville High school students will make donations to the Home and Hospital, for Christmas, as has been the custom. These donations will help to make those old folks happy on Christmas.

Get into the "Christmas Spirit" and bring your donations to your session teacher.

Any donation will be greatly appreciated.

PLAYS

Tickets are on sale now for the three one act plays to be given Tuesday, Dec. 18. There will be no reserved seats. The curtain will rise promptly at 8:00 p. m. The high school orchestra will furnish the music between the plays. The plays are: "A Woman of Character,"
"Thank You Doctor," and
"The Valiant." The first two are comedies, and the last one a tragedy. Every member of the Public Speaking class has some part in these plays and each one is especially adapted to his part. If you want a good laugh come and see Martha Mary Wolfe as Mrs.
Adams, who is highly inclined to gossip. Esther Drum as Mrs.
Perkins, who persists in the dodad up the side Dorothy Denman as Sue Lee, who can not keep up with the trend of conversation. Hortense Reid as Mrs. Albright, who can sneer at the best of things.
Minnida Lyle in the role of Mrs.
Barrington-Cross, the notorious divorcee who gives her theories on the divorce question. Irma Rader as Mame Wright, the innocent bride, who tells the old women how to conduct their matrimonial affairs. Alice Roof as Mrs. Cline who writes intellectual papers on literary subjects. Virginia Given playing the part of Mary Lang, the subject of all the gossip. Veronica Kuhns as the mother of Mrs. Adams, who eavesdrops during the "Latterly Meetin" and declares they are all "vaporins."

In "Thank You Doctor" don't miss Minnida Lyle as Mrs. Lester

the designing crook, Virginia Given as the doctor's assistant who is somewhat afraid of the 'nuts' that visit the doctor's office.
Joe Griffith as the doctor who can find people's minds for them. Harold Dumm as one of the patients, who plays hide and seek with most anything, and Evan Phillips as the messenger from the jewelers, who can make the doctor believe he is one of the 'nuts.'

"The Valiant," the last of the three, does not take such a light tint. It will give you something to think about. These parts will be portrayed by Carl Wallace as the warden, who is rough but has a kind heart, Earl Hussey as the priest who has been chaplain of the prison for many years and has opened many people's eyes to the light, Evan Phillips as the convict who claimed he has no relatives, Irma Rader in the part of the innocent little girl who believes Dike is her lost brother, and Harry Grant the attendant who serves as man of all jobs around the prison.

PRACTICE GAME

C. H. S. and C. A. C. held a practice game in the C. A. C. gym Tuesday, Dec. 11. It was a fast and furious game. The Tigers were outmatched by a nude margin. Heiskell and Davis showed very good work. Steele and Gordon accounted for most of the points for the C. A. C.

The line-up was:
C. A. C.
Davis, le., Steele, le.
Heiskell, rf., Gordon, rf.
Russell, c., Wallace, c.
Wilson, lg., Robinson, lg.
Heeter, rg., Merriman, rg.

SCRUB CREW

Wednesday, Dec. 12, the gym was a scene of merry scrub men.
Some of the freshmen boys who had failed to take due part in physical education, were requested to wash the walls of gym. Unfortunately there were not enough brushes to go around, and as a result the young men had to wash by shifts. One crew failed to clean the wall sufficiently so they were asked to do it over. Bundy Betz was appointed chairman of his husky committee, and also served as water boy. Other members of this committee were: Melford Good, Waldo Hilyard, Gerald McCreary, Robert Greenlee, Walter Betz, Marvin Seymour, Charles Plum, Robert Griffith, Albert Hornam, Dale Strawser, Donald White, Ered Colville, Henry Bartholomew, Donald Wolfe and John Himrod.

OHIO HIGH SCHOOL DAY

Last Saturday, several basketball men accompanied by Coach Guthrie attended the conference of coaches and basketball men in Columbus. Part of the afternoon was spent in explaining rules. Later the Ohio State reserves and the Ohio Wesleyan Reserve gave a demonstration of offensive and defensive basketball. All of the new rules of basketball were explained. Three officials are used when the college games are played.

The conference ended at five o'clock when tickets to the game were distributed.

All basketball men as well as the coaches enjoyed the day.

FRESHMAN BASEBALL

The Wildcats are ruling the field in baseball. They have won seven games, and lost none. Quite an incident happened Tuesday, Dec. 11. Captain Mills, famous pitcher in his speed ball delivery hurled the ball, hitting the bat for an out. This is one of many things that happens on this field. When Mr. Fetherlin is absent a member of the senior class takes charge.

FRESHMEN SCIENCE

Best theme submitted from the freshman science classes last week were written by Elizabeth Martin Themes are written in the "Current Science." The following is Elizabeth's theme:

DO YOU KNOW WHY A STRONG WIND "WHISTLES A TUNE" OF CHANGING PITCH
AS IT BLOWS PAST THE COR-NER?

Sound is caused by air vibrations from a solid body. The size and number of vibrations are the chief cause of the differences in sound.

The low tones are produced by sounding bodies that have a few vibrations per second. The high tones are made by the bodies that produce a great number of vibrations per second.

The wind coming to the corner of the building with force causes vibration, and this causes sound.

FRESHMEN SCIENCE

John Kellstadt wrote the best theme, this week, in the freshmen science classes. John was to write a better and more clearly understood definition than the dictionary gave for a "pearl."

The dictionary states that a pearl is a lustrous calcareous concretion, chiefly calcium carbonate, deposited around a central nucleus in successive film layers of a natural or mother-of-pearl substance, with animal membrane interposed, within the shells of various mollusks.

John translated this definition into more easily understood English in the following way.

Pearls are found in oysters, clams, and other soft shell fish.
Pearl is formed by a grain of sand becoming lodged in the body of the fish. In order to keep this from irritating, a substance is formed around it. This adhesion and makes a bright pearl. The most valuable pearls are not of this kind, but are found in oysters colored but some are found having a gray, or even pink shade.
Others are rose colored.

Best definition of a diamond written in the freshmen science classes, was explained by Zelma Betz.

The definition given in the Current Science stated that a diamond is a mineral consisting essentially of carbon crystallized in the ac-tached form. When pure it is a valuable gem stone of great refractive power; its hardness is 10, and its specific gravity 3.52.

Zelma interpreted this as follows:

A diamond is the hardest, and one of the most valuable of gems.
It is the purest form in which carbon is found. It is generally in octahedron form.

The finest diamonds are colorless, perfectly clear, and transparent. Some diamonds are of different colors.

The diamond is so hard that nothing will scratch it. It is the hardest substance known.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

The typing students are engaged in accuracy tests. Mr.
Johnson mentions Elizabeth Roth, post graduate; Eloise Eldridge, sophomores; Betty Fissell, junior,
and Ellen Lane and Glen Heeter, seniors, as those who are doing exceptionally good work.

Phyllis Wagner and Martha Kinney are doing exceptionally good work as beginners in bookkeeping. This class is engaged in finishing its exercises.

Dwight Wilson is high man in advanced "bookkeeping." Doris Shankweiler, highest short-hand student, received 98 as her second term's average.

GIRL RESERVE LUNCH

Thursday noon, the Girl Reserves met and after lunch a business session was held. The president reminded the girls of their promise to make candy as a Christmas contribution to the poor. The plan to give a Christmas program for the pleasure of inmates of the Home and Hospital was instantly agreed upon. The Girl Reserves, and the Hi-Y will go in a body to present the basket in the high school together with the Christmas program.

The club voted unanimously to assist in selling refreshments at the basketball game Friday night.

HI-Y NEWS

Hi-Y Club met in the domestic science department Tuesday of this week. The meeting was called to order by President Russell, and opened in regular form.

Under the head of old business the induction ceremony was discussed. The date of the induction was to be Thursday evening.

Under the head of new business Mr. Gephart suggested that the Hi-Y club join the Girl Reserves club in a Christmas program at the Home and Hospital for the entertainment of old people. It was also decided that the minutes of the Hi-Y meetings be put in the Red and Black.

Following this meeting the induction ceremony was rehearsed by those who would take part.
The meeting was adjourned with the circle of friendship.

EPSILON MU SIGMA

Epsilon Mu Sigma was entertained Dec. 10, by Peggy Courtright and Mary M. Moore at Circleville high school.

A short program, consisting of two very pretty vocal solos by Peggy Courtright, and a short two-act Christmas play by the two members, was presented in the auditorium. After the play each of the members was given a gift which Santa had left for them.

In the Domestic Science room an important business meeting was conducted. Plans were discussed and decided, for some Christmas charity work.

Members of the society then participated in a very interesting and amusing game, and delicious refreshments were served. A good time was had by all.

Misses Kuhlman and Lois Ferri-by will entertain the Society at the home of Miss Ferriby on S.
Court-st. the first Monday of the new year.

JUNIOR NEWS

Myriam Hitchcock suffered a sprained thumb this week. We do not know whether a fight was taking place or not, but it is reported that her little brother kicked her thumb. She now has her thumb in a splint, the results of consulting Dr. Courtright.

HIRAM'S LETTER

Circleville, Ohio,
December 15, 1928.

Dere Mom:

It seems a cen-ury sence I set myself down to write to you.
The last time I wrote I got such a pain in me han I resol-ved to not rite so sence, agen, they calls thet pain ritters kramp and I didn't no whether at ware done-gereous or con-tag-i-ous or no.

Schule is bout the same, jess one up and down and anuther with these here teachers. Sometimes they gives me pains worsen ritters kramp and the worstest part is they ain't no cure.

The other day in Latin U no we was studin them words hec, hike and hoe. Well I ware wanted in the Prince Epau's office an I fer-got what they wanted but anyway wen I com bak all them gals were recitin this here hec, hike, hoe stuff an it sounded sompin like this: Hec, hike, back, Hug us, hug us, hug us, Quick, quick, quick.

Mom I ware mar-tied, quick I felt like I wanted the floor to open up an swallow me in but it didn't want em to notice it so I sed I didn't heve enuf arms to do it all at once. I thought thet was reel nifty for they did too, an they lased for quite a spell.

Me and I of the boys got into a fete the other day, well not jess exactly a fete but a party dangerous. I stepped on thet boys foot an dentally of course and heared Guch, you rummy, you stepped on my corn-crop, and I sed: Oh I didn't know this corn-crop was food this year-an, afters he had howled some more he and I ware so tired I gess he ment to sing, thet squealed and maid the Indian head on a penny squeal for imbey. I held it so tite the oney song I sang to my girl was of can't give you anythin; but love Baby, love! He said thet proved my songyness agen. I then presentet him with a black eye. Thet ended the fuss.
They can't put away things over me.

I sure ben gettin the zeroes lately if I get many more, I expect I'll get bout 1000 on me report card.

They hed a play called Julius Caesar. Nearly ever I got stabbed with a sword. O, mom it was a very nerve reeking play. I that gee they may be after me next, but I'm still safe an sound.
I heve sed so much, but I'll heve to tell U basketball has begun but I ain't maid the team yet, I may by a streak of good luck. Well goo bie till next time.

Tur-un-tell-I-gent
Book-lovin-brite son,
Hiram Hoehandle.

P. S. If U see any of them new thousan dollar bills send it to me cause I ain't seen none.

P. P. S. The weather is nearly at zero. Everything seems fond of zeros. Everything will be zero purty soon tell Santa I am a good boy.

EXCHANGE

Central Outlook

Unique walnut table made by senior boy. A Christmas present for your mother costing $1.00!
This is only a dream for most students in high school, but for one Central pupil it is a reality.

He is working on a davenport table which he intends to present to his mother for Christmas. The table is of walnut, and is sixty by twenty inches.

If the table were purchased at a downtown store, it would cost from $75 to $100.

South High Optic

Miss Amelia Earhart, famous aviatrix, who flew across the Atlantic ocean, spoke at the Memorial hall, Nov. 17, for the benefit of the Community Fund campaign.

I am particularly glad to be here because I have been a social worker and I think aviation isn't far from social work," she said.
She told the story of the flight in the "Friendship." The waiting was the hardest part of the trip.
Miss Earhart is a tall, slender, charming person, a pleasing and modest young woman of unusual accomplishment.

CARROLL CHARGED

ized the statements of Miss Gaynor and Miss Blakely as "greatly exaggerated" and said they were inspired by "someone moved by animus toward me."

The two girls were trying out
"Carroll's new musical comedy
"Floretta."

"There are 50 girls in the 'van-ities,' Carroll is quoted as having said, 'and twice as many more rehearsing for 'Floretta' who will under oath, bear out my claim that no one in my companies has ever been humiliated or embarrassed in the slightest degree in rehearsals or throughout performance periods."

Meanwhile, other theatrical producers were quoted as condemning Carroll's alleged tactics.
